About Us

Mwenge Catholic University (MWECAU) grew out of a former Teachers' College (TC) named St. Josephs Teachers College established in 2001 to train Science Teachers for Secondary schools. In July 2014, MWUCE was, by TCU mandate, granted status of a Fully Fledged University named Mwenge Catholic University and abbreviated MWECAU.

The University is owned by Tanzania Episcopal Conference (TEC). Thus, the University has increased and improved the capacity of its staff in teaching, research and consulting. Mission

The mission of the University is "to produce professionally competent, innovative, and committed graduates who are grounded on professional excellence and moral integrity for provision of quality services to Tanzanian and the global community."

Motto

The University is dedicated to St. Joseph the Worker, with the motto "Lux Mundi" which translates in English to "Light of the World."

Core Values

Integrity: The University will model, both in attitude and in behaviour, a strong sense of acting uprightly with honesty, sincerity, and a high ethical standard for the love of God and neighbour.

Trust: Our commitment builds confidence to our stakeholders.

Teamwork: Our community works together to support our vision as well as our students' success.

Service: The University will work to meet the learning demands of the individual student through quality programmes and a supportive learning environment.

The University community will achieve these aims by:

1. Providing models of professional excellence, moral integrity, and transparency
2. Establishing a centre of learning and research, to enable students and staff to become critical thinkers and independent life- long learners;
3. Providing a holistic approach to learning and a student - centred approach to their academic, social, and moral development;

   Providing equal opportunities and open enrolment of students regardless of gender, race, nationality, or religious beliefs.

Process to Achieve the Aims

MWECAU has developed a whole – curriculum approach to achieving its aims. The approach can be summarized under five main aspects of professional training development:

1. Sharpen students' critical thinking capabilities and deepen and widen their grasp of their professions.
2. The need to develop student confidence and ability to use their knowledge and skills in the provision of quality service to the society they serve.
3. The need to train students in a wide range of active, participatory teaching, and learning methodologies in order to stimulate the development of more independent learning skills and higher order cognitive skills in their pupils.
4. Availability of clear social, professional, moral, and ethical framework in which to develop practical training that will prepare the students to join the work force.
5. Develop a mental attitude that will lead students to embrace a committed spirit for the service they will render.

Thus, MWECAU aims at producing graduates with competent skills, attitude, knowledge and confidence to work for the Tanzanian society, and are able to integrate modern technology while performing their professional responsibilities. Graduates should be committed to the learning and professional development as a lifelong process involving upgrading and learning new skills throughout their careers.
